However, certain news reports in various media have reflected ambiguity or confusion regarding this matter. In this context, the clarification of the Commission's decision is as follows: Listed Z-category companies in the capital market, and those companies where the combined shareholding of sponsors and directors is below 30%, must take steps to appoint independent directors in compliance with the Corporate Governance Code, 2018.

That is, as per the provisions of the Corporate Governance Code, 2018, the company's Nomination and Remuneration Committee (NRC) shall recommend candidates for the position of independent director to the Board of Directors, considering the fit and proper criteria for independent directors. Subsequently, the company shall forward the proposed appointment to the appropriate authority (BSEC and, where applicable, Bangladesh Bank) for approval. Upon receiving approval from the competent authority, the company's Board of Directors shall formally appoint the independent director. Thereafter, approval for the appointment must be obtained from the general shareholders in the company's Annual General Meeting (AGM).

2.14 Statement from the BSEC Chairman Regarding the National Budget for the Fiscal Year 2025-'26

The statement of the BSEC Chairman regarding the budget for the fiscal year 2025-'26 is as follows:

Following the July uprising, the interim government is now on the path to recovering an almost devastated economy. At this critical juncture of the nation, the Advisory Council of the interim government has successfully approved the proposed National Budget and the Finance Bill for the fiscal year 2025-'26 on 2 June 2025, which is commendable.

The proposed budget for FY 2025-'26 contains several positive aspects for the capital market. In his budget speech, the Honorable Finance Adviser included five key directives from the Honorable Chief Adviser related to the capital market, which were given due importance. Among these directives were the direct listing of multinational companies in the capital market and the listing of strong, fundamentally sound domestic companies. The directives also emphasized appointing foreign consultants to bring about necessary reforms in the capital market. Furthermore, the need for strict measures against misconduct and violations by institutions and individuals involved in the market was also highlighted. Most importantly, the directives mentioned the government's policy support to position the capital market as a central pillar of the future economy.

Recognizing the importance of the capital market, the government has increased the gap in corporate tax rates between listed and non-listed companies from 5% to 7.5%. As a result, listed companies will benefit from a reduced corporate tax rate. This measure is expected to encourage profitable, fundamentally strong local and foreign companies to become listed on the stock exchange.

Another positive announcement in the proposed budget is the reduction of the transaction tax on brokerage houses from 0.05% to 0.03%. At a time when the market is facing a liquidity crisis and low trading volume, this tax relief is expected to boost markettransactions and encourage investment.

Additionally, the corporate tax rate for merchant banks has been reduced by 10 percentage points-from 37.5% to 27.5%. This will encourage merchant banks to play a more active role in capital market development. Merchant banks are vital stakeholders in the capital market, and their role is crucial in ensuring the supply of quality shares for the sustainable development of the market.

Moreover, in the interest of investors, the interim government, soon after taking office, initiated a positive step by reducing the capital gains tax rate on the sale of shares of listed companies. Through a National Board of Revenue (NBR) circular issued on 4 November of the previous year, the maximum tax rate on capital gains was reduced by half-from 30% to 15%. These steps clearly reflect the government's positive and sincere commitment to the development of the capital market.

Lastly, for the welfare and protection of investors, the capital market regulator BSEC has already taken a policy decision to reduce the annual maintenance fee for BO (Beneficiary Owner) accounts by approximately 70%–from BDT 450 to BDT 150. It has also decided todeposit 25% of the interest income earned from consolidated customer accounts into the Investor Protection Fund. These initiatives will directly benefit general investors.
